U. N. AGREES TO SEND LIAISON TEAM TO KAESONG

FURIOUS AIR FIGHTS OVER NORTH KOREA

By The Associated Press
U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 19.—(P)—Swift Allied jets shot down one Russian type MIG-15 jet and damaged five in three swirling air battles over northwest Korea today.

At least 112 jets engaged in fights flaring from 30,000 feet down to tree top level.

There were the first jet fights in five days. Murky weather had curtailed jet activity.

Capt. Dennis L. Sken of Twin Falls, Idaho, bagged the jet shot down today. It was the first time he had run into the Russian MIGs. It was his third mission over Korea.

Sken was leading a flight of four F-84 Thunderjets southwest of Suncheon when he spotted eight MIGs. Four made runs on the Allied planes. Sken caught the tail-end.

Soon after, 37 American F-84 Sabre jets tangled with 40 MIGs in a swirling, 15-minute battle.

On the ground, Allied troops straddling a newly-won peak on "Heartbreak Ridge" in eastern Korea hurled back two Communist attacks Wednesday.

They won the commanding height after a bitter fight that ended Tuesday midnight.

The north-south ridge is 85 miles inland from Korea's east coast.

The Eighth Army reported earlier that three major hills were captured Tuesday by Allied forces on the flaming eastern front.

On one, 304 Reds were killed and 27 captured by Allied infantrymen struggling up rain-swept, muddy slopes.

Red resistance Tuesday on the east of the eastern front was moderate.

Allied forces have driven nearly 15 miles northward in a month of savage fighting against solidly dug-in Reds in the east.

Tank-led Allied troops on the west-central front threw two surprise attacks at the Reds Tuesday but were repulsed each time.

The Allied blows were aimed at a hill mass west of Chorwon, 18 miles north of Parallel 38. It was the southwestern peg of the Red's old iron triangle staging area.

A cold drenching rain, mindful of the bitter Korean winter to come, undermined Allied attacks Tuesday. It also hampered air attacks on North Korean rail and road routes and cut down on the air force support of ground troops.

The North Korean radio at Pyongyang Wednesday said the Communists sank an Allied destroyer in Wonsan harbor on the east coast and shot down 12 planes, including three B-29s.

The Navy public information office in Tokyo said it had no reports of an Allied destroyer being sunk. A Far East Air Forces spokesman said no B-29s had been lost to enemy action in Korea for several weeks.

Warren Excavating Firm Outlines Proposal to Convert Unsightly Mill Race Into Space for Public Parking Lot

PROPOSED PARKING LOT SITE—This section of the mill race between the Kaiser-Fraser auto show rooms (white building) and the foot of Market street, would become a parking lot with space available for hundreds of cars under proposed plans to fill in the mill race.

The scene looks placid enough—at a distance. But closer inspection disclosed the banks of the mill race are grown up with weeds which hide a lot of rubbish and garbage. The mill race itself is a mudhole, and the sluggish water provides an ideal breeding place for mosquitos. (Other pictures on page 10).

Benefits To Be Derived For Borough in Proposed Project Are Beyond Comprehension

Plans of a Warren excavation firm for a widespread improvement of the so-called wastelands to the south of Water street, Market street and Pennsylvania avenue are causing the rattlings in Warren's skeleton closet to become more and more faint.

Elimination of these unsightly, unhealthful acres, as well as the mill race in its entirety is now in a stage of planning which is more than tentative.

The potentialities of the land which would be made available for public use are very great. Should a portion of the tract be turned into a large parking facility, the benefits to be derived for the borough would be almost beyond comprehension. It would relieve a congested street condition which extends throughout the business districts as far west as Hazel street and east onto Conewango avenue, its adjacent streets, and for several blocks east on Pennsylvania avenue beyond the Conewango avenue intersection.

Members of Borough Council who have learned of the plan have made comments which in each instance have been more than favorable. While unable to pass on the proposition in its present stage, Councilmen are looking forward to a presentation of facts at the next Council meeting, October 8, which will explain every angle for their consideration.

The ultimate extension of the improvement to the very banks of the Allegheny River opens the possibility of a riverside park section similar to Crescent Park on the South Side, which would add immeasurably to the beauty of Warren.

For more years than the oldest resident can remember, the lands bordering the east side of the Island have been a source of annoyance to a majority of the citizens of Warren, and especially those who reside near or do business near this particular section.

Later years have seen this lamentable municipal set-back screened from view by friendly willows and elders which have sprung up as if to curtain the sight from passers-by. But part the foliage a few feet, peer through, and there it is! Acre upon acre of valueless land, too marshy to walk upon, a luscious breeding place for giant mosquitos, horse flies and an ideal nesting place for vermin of innumerable varieties.

Nelson and Ellberg, a firm of young and energetic far-seeing Warren citizens, considered the situation from every angle. At first, those with whom they conferred were inclined to be skeptical, perhaps influenced by the thought that the condition had existed so long it was not only inexplicable but inevitable. But the more they thought about it, the more plausible the Nelson and Ellberg plan became. The idea of filling in this property and not only that, but the elimination of the entire mill race, was mighty appealing. No single undertaking could do more for Warren in accomplishing a permanent improvement which should have been started many years ago. The rattling of the skeleton in the closet could barely be heard!

Topographical survey has shown Nelson and Ellberg that while the task is a gigantic one, it is not unsurmountable. Jobs such as this have been done by the military, both Navy and Army, with less equipment and undoubtedly under much more hazardous conditions. The local men say they have at their fingertips 1,000,000 cubic yards of earth to use as a starter.

The exact plan of action will be decided upon within a short time. Although reticent to divulge all their plans, Nelson and Ellberg say they are considering the initial

REQUEST FOR PARLEY MADE BY COMMIES

Tokyo, Sept. 19.—(P)—The United Nations command tonight agreed to a Communist request to send a liaison team tomorrow to the Kaesong neutral zone, site of the suspended Korean war armistice talks.

The Reds made the request shortly after the U. N. command announced that four unarmed South Korean soldiers yesterday mistakenly entered the neutral zone.

The Red request for a meeting raised speculation that the Communists may want to discuss resumption of the stalled talks, or they may want to lodge another charge of Allied violation of the neutral zone.

The Reds broke off the talks Aug. 23 after charging that an Allied plane tried to "murder" Communist armistice negotiators with strafing fire in the zone the night before.

The Reds asked for a meeting with Allied liaison officers at Panmunjon, Communist outpost near the edge of the neutral zone, at 6 a. m. Thursday (4 p. m. Wednesday EST).

Brig. Gen. Frank A. Allen, chief of information, general headquarters, said the U. N. liaison officers, accompanied by three correspondents, would meet with the Reds.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander, has offered to send liaison officers to the outpost to discuss resumption of armistice talks any time the Reds wished. But he also has insisted that the Reds be the ones to ask if and when they want the talks taken up again.

Some observers pointed out that 6 a. m. was too early in the day if the Reds wanted to talk about resuming the talks.

They said the early hour indicated more probably that another Red charge was coming up and that they wanted the U. N. liaison officers to investigate as soon as possible.

Others argued, however, that the Reds might have set the early hour to get the talks underway the same day, if that is what they want.

Tone of the notes exchanged between the Reds and Allies recently has been more moderate than at any time since the talks were suspended. The South Koreans who wandered into the neutral zone by mistake Tuesday were held by the Communists 20 hours, then freed, a U. N. command release said.

The Reds had charged that the incident was a violation of the Kaesong neutral zone.

The U. N. command took a lighter view.

Judge Threatens To Chain Defiant Witness to Chair

New York, Sept. 19.—(P)—Gambler Harry Gross defiantly stomped down from the witness chair at Brooklyn's mass police-graft trial today, but returned after the judge threatened to "chain you to the chair."

"You come back here, and take that stand," Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz shouted. "If you don't, I'll chain you to the chair with handcuffs."

Gross, the one-time multi-million-dollar bookmaker ambled back up to the stand and sat down.

His defiant gesture came after he had refused for the second day in a row to continue his testimony about his purported million-dollar-a-year bribery payoffs to police.

A heated exchange ensued between him and the judge. The dapper, perfume-loving gambler claimed he had been kept by police in rooms with lights on 23 out of 24 hours a day, that he had not been supplied with adequate toilet articles.

Gross, whose abrupt halt in testimony yesterday threatened to wreck the graft trial of 18 present or former policemen, had been released after a recess, and agreed to resume his testimony today.

But when the trial resumed, he announced resolutely: "I will not answer questions, now or later."

TWO FACE MAGISTRATE

Brought in by Borough police at 11:45 p. m. Tuesday from the vicinity of Pennsylvania avenue, east, and South street, a local woman was fined $5 and $3 costs this morning by Magistrate Tracy Greenlund on a charge of being drunk. Arrested at 7:40 p. m. on the same charge was an Erie man whose sentence was suspended until Saturday when he appeared before Mr. Greenlund today.

$54,000 Is Quota Set for The 1951 Chest Campaign

A. L. Rasmussen, president of the Warren Community Chest and general chairman of the 1951 campaign, announced this afternoon that this year's Chest quota will be $54,400.00. The campaign for funds will be conducted from October 22 to 29.

This year's quota represents an approximate increase of 10 per cent over the 1950 quota of $50,510.00. The agencies participating in Chest benefits last year were the Boy Scouts, Child Health Center, Children's Aid Society, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Warren Relief Association, Warren Visiting Nursing Association, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. One new agency has been added to the list this year, the United Defense Fund, which covers welfare services rendered to the Armed Forces and the work heretofore undertaken by the U. S. O.

Nat Drake, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is executive secretary of the Community Chest Board and campaign director. Plans of the Chest's Board of Directors were formulated at a noonday meeting in Mr. Drake's office.

Compromise Tax Bill Up In House With Result In Doubt

Harrisburg, Sept. 19.—(P)—A $138,500,000 compromise tax package, came to a vote in the house today—with the outcome in doubt.

None of the house Republican leaders would flatly predict its passage. It was still a "second best" program to them. Their first choice is the disputed income tax, which the house passed and the senate ditched.

"I don't know whether it will pass, but I hope it will," said Rep. Charles C. Smith, GOP floor leader, referring to the latest compromise program.

Gov. John S. Fine is neither backing nor opposing it. He told a Williamsport audience yesterday:

"I need the money to keep the government functioning."

The governor also forecast that the Commonwealth would need $250,000,000 in new taxes by 1953. He did not detail why, although automatic teachers' salary boosts will hike education fund requirements.

But touch-and-go tax developments saw senate Republicans invite Smith to their caucus today to explain the tax package even before the house called it up for a vote.

ROME IS SNARLED BY A 24-HOUR STRIKE

Rome, Sept. 19.—(P)—Train, telegraph and postal services throughout Italy broke down today under the impact of a 24-hour strike by 1,000,000 state employees for more pay.

Communications were crippled. Tens of thousands of tourists were stranded.

The only services that continued were maintained by 500,000 employees who defied the strike order.

At Genoa 80 per cent of the port workers walked off the job.

Mail deliveries were suspended.

Mass Graft Trial Witness Is Defiant

New York, Sept. 19.—(P)—Temperamental bookie Harry Gross refused again today—for the second day in a row—to answer questions in the mass graft trial of 18 policemen.

"I will not answer questions, now or later," Gross said resolutely.

He sat on the stand, his hands folded, staring straight at District Attorney Miles McDonald.

Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz told the balky witness that he would be sitting there for two days unless he is more cooperative. The judge sought to determine the bookie's reason for clamming up.

Gross halted the sensational graft trial yesterday by suddenly announcing he would testify no longer—after having already described the start of his career in buying police protection for his gambling business.

DROWNED IN CESS POOL

Uniontown, Sept. 19.—(P)—Two-year-old Connie Jo Cropp fell into an open cess pool in the backyard of her home at nearby New Salem yesterday and drowned.

The child's mother, Mrs. Frank Cropp, found the boy. Mrs. Cropp said the child had been playing in the yard.

Delay Sought In Resolution Aimed To Oust McCarthy

Washington, Sept. 19.—(P)—A senate elections subcommittee postponed action on a resolution aimed at determining whether Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) should be ousted from the senate.

The delay was asked by Senator Hennings (D-Mo.) a member of the subcommittee. McCarthy had suggested yesterday that Hennings withdrew from consideration of the ouster proposal, which is sponsored by Senator Benton (D-Conn.).

McCarthy's move came after Hennings had left for New York to attend a meeting of the American Bar Association. Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), the subcommittee chairman, told reporters he had received a telegram from Hennings asking that consideration of the Benton resolution be put off until he could be present.

Gillette said it might be possible for the group to get together tomorrow if Hennings is back in town by then.

The subcommittee had planned to decide at today's session whether hearings should be held on the Benton proposal. It also had intended to rule on a demand by McCarthy that he be permitted to question witnesses.

A reporter told Gillette that Benton has reported he received assurances from the chairman that hearings would be held. If Benton made such a statement, Gillette replied, "it was an error."

Gillette added it would be up to the full subcommittee to decide regarding hearings.

In advance of today's meeting, Benton told a reporter he thinks McCarthy is "worried" about the outcome of Benton's move to oust McCarthy.

Interesting Incidents Staged as Part Of High School Get-Acquainted Week

If you happened into Warren High School auditorium during the assembly this morning and heard a girl scream as she ran across the stage in a bathing suit with a boy close at her heels with a lawnmower, you shouldn't be soaked.

Why? It's all part of the Get-Acquainted Week program being sponsored by the school's Student Council to familiarize new and old students with each other.

The show, which included the above incident, was in the form of a mock radio program with a station complete from radio engineer to a quiz program and sponsor and was very cleverly handled by the student members in charge.

Part of the assembly time was devoted to installation of Student Council officers by Dr. Carl E. Whipple, superintendent of schools. The installed members were Dean Vestling, president; Charles Johnson, vice president; Beverly Sidon, secretary; and Leroy Salerno, treasurer. Miss Jean Spencer and E. R. McLaughlin are continuing to serve as faculty advisors.

Preceding the installation, June Odmark read a devotional service for the morning exercises.

Turkey Is Counted Upon To Be Pivotal Nation in New Middle East Program

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—(P)—Creation of a new middle eastern defense system on Russia's flank, with Turkey as the pivotal nation, was reported authoritatively today to be under discussion by the Atlantic Alliance.

Top military leaders count on Turkey becoming the key country in such a setup after Turkey is linked to the United States and its allies by a mutual security treaty.

The Atlantic Council meeting here is discussing a proposal to admit Turkey and Greece to the North Atlantic treaty organization. Even if Turkey is not accepted by NATO, tentative plans call for other countries in its strategic area to join it in a new middle east command.

Military and defense officials of the 12 NATO nations opened discussions yesterday on command problems which would be created by the admission of Greece and Turkey.

The U. S. proposal to enlarge the Atlantic treaty to include them has won the outright support of 10 NATO governments. A final decision has been delayed until Danish foreign minister Ole Bjorn Kraft gets new instructions from his government, probably today.

ELECTION POSTPONED

Youngsville Sports Boosters, meeting at the Youngsville high school last night, delayed a scheduled election of officers until next week, the date and time of the meeting to be announced later. Meanwhile, Jack Dalley was appointed temporary secretary and K. R. Wood was named temporary treasurer. Membership cards are being printed and will be ready for next week's session.

FALLS TO DEATH

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19.—(P)—A ladder slipped and plunged Harold J. Kleinhens, 33, of nearby Williamsburg, 33 feet to his death yesterday. Kleinhens was working on the roof of a district home when he fell.

Price of Getting Married by the Justice of Peace Is Lifted by the Government

Washington, Sept. 19.—(P)—The government today lifted the lid on the price ceiling of getting married by a justice of the peace. It also decontrolled the charges of process servers for delivery of court papers.

These were among 22 services exempted from controls by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS). The OPS formally took the wraps off fees of barbers and beauticians previously exempted by congressional action.

In two other orders today, the OPS:

1. Authorized OPS field offices to make adjustments on ceilings for fluid milk and cream products in marketing areas within their jurisdiction, thus moving a step nearer the principle of community pricing.

2. Authorized packers of canned fruit cocktails and other fruit mixtures, clingstone peaches and California pears, to compute new ceilings expected to bring slight increases for these products to consumers.

In exempting the 22 services from price controls, OPS said "this action will have little effect on the cost of living."

Pups, Planks and Prices

The planks that Dad and Jimmy are using for Towser's new house cost just about three times what they would have just a few years back. In fact, lumber now costs far more for all kinds of houses...including, perhaps, your own.

But don't blame the men who cut the trees or those who sell the lumber. Blame the dollar. It just won't buy what it used to!

The dollar is squeezing your telephone company, too. All the materials we use... from lumber to lead...cost more. Take, for example, a 30-foot telephone pole. Ten years ago, it cost $3.65. Now the price is $7.45—more than twice as much.

In spite of all this, we're providing good, constantly improving telephone service at rates that remain surprisingly low. Telephone rates could go considerably higher...and still telephone service would represent a smaller part of the family budget than it did 10 years ago.

Penn State Night Sessions Planned

Daniel T. Hopkins, assistant area administrator, announced the appointment of Carlton W. Kurz, local teacher, as the administrative head of the Penn State evening class program to be held in Warren this year.

Mr. Kurz has been an instructor in the Warren school system since 1934, teaching Industrial Arts, English, Social Studies and Engineering Drafting. Last year Mr. Kurz taught the course in Engineering Drafting for Penn State as the College opened classes in this area for the first time since the war.

In making the announcement, Mr. Hopkins also informed local residents that registration for this year's courses would be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, September 24 and 25 from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. at the Warren Senior High school. At that time trained interviewers from the Penn State staff will be on hand to assist all persons interested in registering. The courses being offered this year are Engineering Drafting and Public Speaking.

Friends of Library Will Meet Friday

Cards are being mailed today to members of the Friends of the Library and the members of the Warren Library Association, reminding them of the meeting to be held Friday evening in the Warren Public Library. This will be the first meeting of the newly-formed Friends of the Library, with a book sale beginning at seven o'clock and the meeting opening at eight o'clock.

Miss Catherine Butler, Homestead librarian and an active organizer of Friends of the Library groups in Pennsylvania, will be present to speak and to answer questions. Many people are interested in knowing what the Friends of the Library groups do, how often they meet and the purpose they serve. This will be an opportunity for everyone to learn what other groups do, what the possibilities are and just what the organization represents.

The sale of discarded library books will continue through the evening and the books that are left will be kept on sale for several days.

Letters to the Editor

Warren, Pa., Sept. 17, 1951

Dear Sirs:
I read the article in the paper about Billy Carlson and I am very glad the people in Warren are going to help him.

I have heard him sing and he has a very good voice and I think it would be nice if we could help him financially through the radio and press. His father has been very ill and has been in the sanatorium for around five years. I know that Billy is deserving of a fair chance as he really has a sensational voice for a young boy and I know he will appreciate anything that will be done for him.

Yours truly,
Mrs. H. Cohan

ABC ON N. A. T. O.

This is an ABC on the meeting of the twelve Atlantic Pact nations being held this week in Ottawa.

The 12 are the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Belgium, Denmark, Luxembourg, Iceland, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway and Portugal.

In 1949 they signed an agreement, the North Atlantic Pact, to help one another in mutual defense.

To make the pact work they set up the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) and began to re-arm.

While all are taking some part in this, the U. S., with arms and money, is shouldering the biggest part of the re-arming program.

They have reached the point where they are building a European army for their common defense, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in command.

Taking part in the Ottawa talks are the foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 12 NATO nations.

Not everything they discuss will be settled at Ottawa. But here are the main problems facing them:

1. Admitting Greece and Turkey to NATO. The U. S. proposed it. This would add two more allies, with troops, to NATO in strategic spots: On Russia's southeastern flank. The 12 nations may approve this at Ottawa.

2. Trying to keep the economies of NATO's 12 nations balanced some way. It's easier for the more prosperous U. S. to re-arm and at the same time retain its high standard of living than it is for some others.

3. Taking off some of the handcuffs placed on Italy, one of the NATO nations, by the peace treaty made with her.

The treaty limits the Italian army to 250,000 men.

4. Truly ticklish is the problem of re-arming Germany and making a peace treaty with her. This applies only to the West German Republic, occupied by the U. S., Britain and France. Eastern Germany is occupied by Russia.

NATO needs Germany, which is one of the great workshops, has trained men for the shops, plus a great manpower pool which could be called upon to fill out NATO's European army.

BOOST FOR CLASSIFIED PAGE

The "Classified Page" received a big boost from Earl A. Skinner, advertising manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, speaking before the Classified Advertising Clinic of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association at Pittsburgh when he said "Sixty per cent of applicants for the jobs with the Bell come in as a result of classified advertising."

"A spot check of applicants for one month," says Mr. Skinner, "indicated that about sixty percent came in to our employment office as a result of classified newspaper advertising."

"In terms of people, this sixty per cent represents over 1,200 out of 2,100 applicants."

"There certainly is no need for any of your men attempting to sell us on the value of classified. We are sold, and whenever or wherever we find cause for recruiting we shall continue to make use of this valuable tool."

"With a product so valuable I hope you all can convert more and more companies and people to the same belief I hold. Classified advertising can pay off."

Incidentally Ross M. Blair, publisher of The Pittsburgh Legal Journal stressed the importance of public notice and legal advertising.

Announcement today of the more than tentative plan for filling in the old mill race and the acres of wasteland between the mill race and the Allegheny River, bordered by Conewango Creek on the east, comes as a pleasant surprise to all Warren. Comment on the proposition from Council members and others who have heard indirectly of the proposition has been favorable. Enthusiasm is shown by all concerned. Perhaps no development planned in some time for the betterment of Warren is as important. Citizens will watch with deep interest the progress of plans announced by Nelson and Ellberg, local excavation firm which is willing to undertake the gigantic task of reclamation and improvement.

No, but We Can Still Vote

Here And There

An old friend and reader who has been the inspiration of numerous paragraphs in this column in the past again furnished the topic for today's article. It comes with a note from J. Duane Upton, PO Box 240, Jamestown, N. Y., who says "Here is a copy of a letter which my wife received from I. J. Hoff recently, excerpts of same might interest your readers. She was very surprised and pleased to hear from Prof. Hoff, after sending him a card when we read in your paper about his birthday. We mailed him a card and letter from Florida, and received the enclosed response, which was forwarded to us here in Jamestown, N. Y., where we are spending the summer. My wife was the former June Haller, of Garland, who attended Hoff Business College about 14 years ago, when Prof. Hoff was very much a part of that institution. She afterwards worked at the New Process Co."

Enclosed was a copy of the letter written to Mrs. Upton, by Prof.

Hoff from Ridgefield, N. J., under date of Aug. 28. It says in part:

Dear Friend:

At long last I have gotten around to answer your lovely birthday letter with kind wishes for every day of the week. Up to and including my birthday I received 96 letters and a few belated ones brought the grand total up to 112. I didn't suppose so many friends knew where I was, but I understand Ed Lowrey had something to do with the Times-Mirror about me and quite a number scattered about over the U. S. heard by way of the so-called grape vine telegraph. It has kept me pretty busy acknowledging them all, but I have but reached the bottom of the pile.

It has been about 14 years since my wife died and as both my sons married and left Warren it didn't seem like home any more, and soon afterward I sold my school and since then I have been quite a gypsy—traveling about over the country. I had my car fixed so I could sleep in it and on the right running board I built a sort of cabinet-like kitchen where I keep a gasoline stove and cooking utensils and supplies. In that way I was independent. I have made 4 trans-continental trips and return—always going and returning by a different way. Now I feel that I have seen about every interesting place our Uncle Sam has to offer and now, nearly 85, I shall be content to settle down and make my home with my older son, Franklin. I would prefer to end my days in Warren, where I have spent most of my life and have so many friends, but it doesn't seem likely that either Franklin or William will ever live there any more.

I still have my car. The first thing I did after returning to Warren was have it overhauled, and Mr. Perry McDonnell, my mechanic tells me it is good for another trip across the country if I want to go. I have renewed my license, too, but haven't taken the car out of storage yet. I have been playing with the idea of touring these New England States again. While it wouldn't compare with these other trips as far as mileage goes, still it abounds with historically interesting places. I spent about 6 weeks 16 or 18 years ago touring this section. The last trip covered about two years and I traveled over 12,000 miles. The trip before I took a cousin with me and altogether I had driven over 14,000 miles. Previous to that was a 16,000 mile trip, taking me way up into Canada, down into the U. S. at Glacier National Park in Northern Montana, west to the Coast and down through Washington, Oregon, California, into Mexico and back to Los Angeles and return across mid-continent, so I have come to know my geography pretty well. Now I think I had better close here while I still have space to sign my name. I wonder if my signature will seem familiar to you? Hoping this will find you well, I am,

Yours very truly,

(Signed) I. J. Hoff.

F. S. I spent a winter in Florida around Gainesville the year I became 17.

This "N. That: Johnny Nelson in his column, "Sports Corner" in the Bradford Era comments: "Writers who watched Warren trounce Franklin 26-0 for its second straight are rating this as one of the best leading teams in years; Franklin was in Warren territory only once throughout the ball game. . . . A crowd estimated at over 2,000 watched the Wolves rack up a one-sided victory over St. Marys at Kane last Saturday. . . . Leon A. Carlson, who once pitched for the Washington Senators, in the major leagues went big league in the fishing world Sunday when he hauled in the largest muskie of the year and possibly the largest to be taken in Lake Chautauque in many years; it weighed 41 3/4 pounds, measured 54 1/2 inches and had a 25-inch girth. . . . Tankers of the 112th Infantry Regiment, a Northwestern Pennsylvania heavy tank company, arrived last week in Camp Irwin, Calif., to begin five-week workout with units of the 28th "Keystone" division; many of the tankers are former National Guardsmen from the Erie, Meadville-Oil City-Warren area.

The slight turn-in given front wheels of the automobile helps hold the car to the road and makes steering easier.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

The swiftest tournament at the Country Club yesterday was played in a downpour of rain. Mrs. Darling won the tournament.

Elmer Henderson, 117 Biddle street, veteran employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad at the local freight office, retired from the Pennsy September 1.

The Woman's Club auditorium was the scene of an attractive showing today of the work of Miss Elizabeth Lasser. Her oil paintings have attracted a great deal of attention here.

The lid will be pried from the football season in Warren tomorrow afternoon when the Warren High campaigners act as hosts to the Youngsville High eleven. It is probable that Frank Beveino will start at the signal-barking post, with Gettings and Conner at the halfback posts and Samuelson at fullback.

Metzger-Wrights has a new shipment of 300 Empress Eugenie hats at $5.95.

There is considerable talk about town concerning the series to be played between the National Transit and the State-Bankers to decide the championship of the borough. Both teams are confident of victory and it should be a battle royal. It will undoubtedly be Art Johnson against Ed Bemus, which will assure a pitchers battle.

1941
War Bulletin: Germany's siege guns reported bombarding Leningrad. Hitler army cuts off Crimea from Russian mainland. A Domei report from Tokyo says that Japan had protested to Moscow over alleged Russian mines floating in the Japan sea.

Retiring president, J. S. Pees, installed Mrs. George Johnson as president for the ensuing year at the first fall meeting of Irvinedale PTA last evening.

The Warren Borough Teachers Association held its first cabinet session Tuesday afternoon at the high school building, when Miss Edna Thompson outlined social activities for the year. Officers for the term are Miss Glenda Gilmore, president; Carlton Kurz, retiring president; Carl R. Harrison, vice president; Miss Eva Brown, treasurer; Miss Christine Hurd, secretary; John G. Rossman, school superintendent.

One of the oldest series in local scholastic football history will see another chapter written in the record books Saturday afternoon when the Kane Wolves tangle with the Dragons in their 31st struggle down through the years.

WANT POW'S FREED—Demonstrating against nations still holding prisoners of war, these German ex-POW's paraded in Bonn, with signs like this, showing a POW behind barbed wire, with the slogan "Don't Forget Us." The Western allies have long since repatriated all their prisoners, but many are still held behind the Iron Curtain.

Progressive and Hustling Newspapers Organize to Boost Pennsylvania Week

Harrisburg—The sixth annual observance of Pennsylvania Week, designed to stress the thousands of advantages of the Keystone state in industry, manufacturing, in mining and farming and in all phases of leadership, will reach every state community, large and small, during 1951, thanks to the fine cooperation of the state's progressive and hustling newspapers.

Pennsylvania Week, announced for Oct. 15 to 21 under the sponsorship of the Department of Commerce at Harrisburg, will be a "home town" celebration for 1951, with emphasis being placed on community observances, celebrations and special editions of home town and district newspapers.

Newspapers in all 67 counties are cooperating in the Pennsylvania Week program and various committees now are busily engaged in announcing plans for the big week. The newspapers have played a big part in the success of the first five observances and each of the 300 dailies and weeklies plan even more elaborate promotions for 1951.

Organizing the newspapers for the success of Pennsylvania Week was assigned some weeks ago to Herman S. Reifsnyder, managing editor of the Altoona Mirror, who was most active in the newspaper field during all previous weeks. Nine regions of the state have been formed and the general state newspaper committees includes Royal Daniel, Jr., Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph; A. E. Hickerson, Suburban Publication, Ardmore; Herman S. Goodman, Tribune - Republican, Scranton; Shandy Hill, The Mercury, Pottstown; James H. March, News-Tribune, Beaver Falls; J. Edward Benney, The Mirror, Altoona; Carl A. Baum, Times and News, Gettysburg; J. A. Rich, Oil City Derrick, and Quinton E. Bauge, The Sun-Gazette, Williamsport.

This general committee named for the nine regions has selected a chairman for every county and each newspaper in these counties will have a representative cooperating to insure the state the finest publicity ever for Pennsylvania Week.

Pennsylvania Week was founded by a newspaperman chiefly to "tell the world" the many advantages of Pennsylvania. For 1951 these state newspapers will tell the history of their communities and in this way compile a most complete history for the state. With every newspaper cooperating a wealth of Pennsylvania information is available and it will be enthusiastically received by a well-informed reading public.

Northwestern region newspaper committeemen are:

Chairman, James A. Rich, managing editor, Oil City Derrick.

Clarion—B. E. Phillips, Leader-Vindicator, New Bethlehem; Jefferson—H. S. McMurray, Jeffersonian-Democrat, Brookville; Erie—Peg Parsons, Daily Times, Erie; Crawford—Ken Williams, Tribune, Meadville; Mercer—Tom Gibbons, Herald, Sharon; Forest—Fred Bates, Forest County Republican, Tionesta; Warren—Ed Lowrey, Times-Mirror, Warren; McKean—John Nelson, Era, Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben White, Warren RD 3, announce the marriage of their daughter, Gretchen Jane, to Robert Perry McDannel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry McDannel, Warren RD 1, in a ceremony performed at 7:00 p. m. Monday, September 17, in the First Baptist church.

Dr. H. A. Runard, retired Lutheran minister, read the service before altar setting of palms, baskets of white glaucs and carnations. Mariet Land played traditional wedding music accompanied by Velma Mitchell, who sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white tulle with a pink and white tulle train, and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a boutonniere of white and pink roses.

Other guests included Mrs. Ray Ritchie, Warren RD 1, who served as best man and ushers were Grant Anderson and Bill Yeagle.

Mrs. White was attired in beige lace over tulle, with navy accessories, and Mrs. McDannel selected a gown of white tulle with a pink and white tulle train, and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses.

Guests numbering 100 were invited for the reception held at 7:30 o'clock in the church parlors, where a beautiful bride's cake was topped with miniature bride and groom figures, and surrounded by white pom poms. Crystal candlesticks held the tapers, with touches of white lace and tiny bows, and bud vases held small bouquets of white pom poms. Out of town guests were from Perry, Jamestown, Erie and Sheffield.

For a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands region, the bride wore a navy ensemble and yellow rosebud corsage.

Mrs. McDannel is a graduate of Warren High and the Warren Business School and her husband, also a local high school alumnus, attended Edinboro State Teachers' College and graduated from the Army watch-making school at Aberdeen, Md.

Friends Are Too Important in Life to Drift Away From Them

"I'm not very good about keeping up with my friends." Have you ever made that admission?

If you have, what you are really saying is: "I don't bother much with being a good friend" and also, "I haven't as many friends as I might have, if I had only been less lazy about keeping in touch with them."

That is a common enough mistake and one that most of us make to some degree. But it is a costly one.

For friends, real friends, are important to our wellbeing and happiness. And we are important to theirs.

We choose our friends for many different reasons. Because they think like we do. Or because they challenge us to think differently. Because we have something to offer them. Or they have something to offer us.

Because they are fun to be with. Or because they are sympathetic and understanding. Because they have qualities we lack but admire. Or because they admire qualities in us and the admiration is heart-warming.

FRIENDS ADD PLEASURE IN LIFE

WE make friends for all these reasons. And all of them are important. For they all add to our pleasure in life, to our growth as individuals, and offer us the satisfaction of giving something of ourselves to others.

That is why we shouldn't let them drift away out of pure laziness or selfishness or by not caring enough to make an effort to keep in touch with them.

"I'm not very good about keeping up with my friends" isn't a confession we should make lightly.

It is an important lack. And if we make that confession today, we should start trying tomorrow to change it.

Friends are too important to lose from laziness or neglect or from being too busy to bother.

Scouts, announcing a pack meeting September 27 at the Lacy building. Mrs. Walter Mather spoke for the Girl Scouts.

Other business included a vote to have an ice cream social October 25, and announcement of attendance awards to Miss Anderson's sixth grade and Miss Masters' kindergarten room. Miss Stewart introduced Mrs. Joseph DeFrees, guest of the evening, who showed beautiful colored slides and talked of her trip to Alaska. She also displayed a number of interesting curios from the same country.

Concluding, refreshments were served by the executive committee.

Borough Teachers Begin New Season

Routine business occupied the attention of Warren borough teachers at their first fall meeting held in the high school Tuesday afternoon. With President, Edna Glasser, presiding, explanation was made of various types of insurance available, and a financial budget, to cover current expenses of the association for the year was adopted.

The executive board was authorized to procure speakers for three professional meetings during the year.

To conclude the meeting, Miss Eva Brown, of Lacy school, reviewed in a very interesting manner, highlights of her visit to a workshop of the Pennsylvania State Education Association held in Chambersburg, at which problems of the local PSEA branches were discussed.

WASTELANDS—This big tract of wasteland is the triangle formed by the mill race, Conewango creek and the Allegheny river. Its principal use now is for a rubbish dump and a hobo "jungle" in the heart of the scrub brush beyond the dump. Filling in the area would open up a vast acreage for future development for automobile parking, and possible future development of the water front area as a beautiful river-front park.

Benefits To Be Derived Beyond Comprehension

move from two different standpoints, the downright elimination of the mill race at its source, near the Pennsylvania avenue bridge, or the divergence of the race at a point several hundred feet from the Penelock substation back into Conewango Creek.

It is pointed out that the land to be reclaimed can be put to many uses. One of the considerations is the large automobile parking lot, with access from lower Market street and Clark street on the island. The Phoenix Furniture Company, is owner of the property in question.

Compromise Tax Bill Up in House

ter), GOP caucus chairman, said the invitation also was designed to probe possible senate reaction to the package prior to house action.

The Smith invitation puzzled legislative observers on the basis that should senate Republicans refuse to go along with the house package nothing would be left for senate action except the income tax.

The one-half of one per cent income levy, backed by Fine, has been stalled into the senate finance committee since April. Senate leaders have conceded that it is "dead," but the administration has been hoping it might be revived.

To further complicate the tax picture, the senate education committee approved yesterday a house-000,000 pay boost to 60,000 school teachers in Pennsylvania.

Taking this district honor qualified the station for national competition for the James V. Forrestal Trophy, the inspection for the national title to take place October 9.

The unit's commanding officer, Lt. Sidney W. Blackman, of Warren, will accept the plaque on behalf of the division.

OLDER FOLKS OFTEN HAVE "TIRED" BLOOD

As you get older, when your color is bad and you feel tired, "all in," the chances are as high as 8 in 10 your blood is below par. Then it's time to try Geritol—the scientific blood tonic made especially for people over 35. Pale, weak blood leaves you "tired," "dried" and "blue." Zoology Professor, Fired for Being a Nudist, Hopes to Find New Position

McKenzie, Tenn., Sept. 19.—(P)—A church college zoology professor, fired for being a nudist, is waiting today for any reply to his feelers for a new job.

Dr. John E. Bauman, a 59-year-old bachelor who has taught in church schools since 1918, said he hoped he will find some school that "stands up for academic freedom."

But the man who fired him—President Roy N. Baker of the Cumberland Presbyterian church's Bethel College here—doesn't think he's got a chance.

"I don't think another church school in the country will employ him," he said.

Bauman's contract was not renewed at the end of the summer term when college officials learned he was a member of the American Sunbathing Association.

He had been a faculty member three years, and a nudist ten.

Bethel is a school of 450 students and 24 teachers. It's a four-year liberal arts college with a theological seminary on the campus.

LIGHT IS BROKEN

Combined strength of two youngsters brought down one of the large pedestal lights in front of the Warren Public Library just before 8 p. m. Tuesday. One of them was swinging on the pedestal when the other grabbed him, their combined weight tearing the pole loose and breaking the wiring as the globe crashed to the sidewalk. The boys did not run away, they went immediately inside and reported the accident. Mrs. Jeanne Lopez, librarian, said today that generations of young Warren boys probably had weakened the pedestal, and repairs are under way.

Proposal Is Offered For Reviving Talks Over Iranian Oil

Washington, Sept. 19.—(P)—The United States made public today a three-point proposal for reviving deadlocked British-Iranian talks over control of Iran's strategic oil industry.

Presidential Assistant W. Averell Harriman told Iranian prime minister Mossadeq in a letter outlining the American proposals that Iran must be "practical" if her dispute with Britain—generally viewed as dangerous to middle eastern peace—is to be settled.

Harriman wrote Mossadeq that "negotiations can soon be resumed" if the premier accepts the U. S. proposals as a basis for discussion. This might indicate Harriman had talked them over, at least informally, with the British, and got their approval.

The three points called for "competent" management of the Iranian oil industry, under the aegis of the company Iran set up after nationalization; compensation to Britain, and British control of overseas sale and distribution of Iranian oil products.

Refusing to transmit a 15-day Iranian ultimatum to Britain, President Truman's foreign affairs assistant said the terms laid down by Mossadeq in the ultimatum were largely the same as those the British rejected last month when negotiations stalled. Harriman went to Tehran, Iran's capital, in a fruitless attempt to end the dispute brought on by Iranian nationalization of her British-run oil industry.

Local Sportsmen Stock 300 Birds

Nearly 300 ringneck pheasants, raised by the Warren Field and Stream Club as one of its projects, were released in various areas of the county open to hunting by club representatives yesterday.

The birds were received as day-old chicks from the Pennsylvania Game Commission, and were stocked in areas where there is good cover and ideal breeding conditions.

According to reports submitted at the recent convention of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Federation at Endeavor, sportsmen's clubs in the district raised 90,000 of the ringnecks for stocking purposes this year.

This sets a new record for the area, and sportsmen are hopeful that their efforts will greatly improve pheasant hunting.

Plan Extension Of 6-District Survey

H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools, said today that plans are going forward for the improvement of school facilities in Corry which are now used by two Warren county townships, Spring Creek and Columbus.

An extension of a Corry survey last year will now be extended to the five other districts which have become a part of the joint Corry district, Columbus, Spring Creek, Elgin, Wayne and Concord townships, the prior two being in Warren county. The architectural firm of Hunter, Caldwell and Campbell, of Altoona, has been engaged to extend the survey. Out of this work will come a recommendation as to size and type of additional facilities needed to accommodate students from the six districts.

This survey also will decide the cost of the building after which an allotment of funds will be requested from the state.

Both junior and senior high school students in Spring Creek township now attend school in Corry while Columbus sends only its senior students. Upon completion of the new building, junior students from Columbus will probably be sent to Corry.

Pennzoil Acquires Elk Co. Holdings

The Pennzoil Company, Oil City, has just announced that it has purchased from H. A. Logan and family of Warren, the latter's holdings in the Elk Refining Company of Charleston, W. Va.

It is expected that F. G. Banerot, Jr., currently executive vice president of Elk, will become president of the company to succeed H. A. Logan, who held that office since the organization of the company in 1913, and that some enlargement of the board will be made at a later date.

The Elk Refining Co. for the past forty years has maintained a dominate position in the Pennsylvania refining industry and at the present time is one of the largest producers of Pennsylvania lubricating oils in the Appalachian Field.

There are no current plans to materially change the general operation of the company.

His wife is the former Evelyn Crandall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Crandall. In addition to being head of the Utah Company he is also president of the Edison Electric Institute.)

Red Fox Rough On Muskrat Supply

George W. Keppler, Meadville game protector, offers two slants on what has happened to muskrats in northwestern Pennsylvania. He says:

"This is good muskrat country, with its many marshes and beaver dams. The closed season last winter has been a great help to the little fur bearers. They seem to be everywhere."

"I have had some reports of red foxes working on rats. A Mr. Allen, who works at the Western Game Farm and also traps, reports that he took 61 red foxes and 1 gray during the month of June, all within sight of the game farm. At one of the predator's dens he counted over 50 tails of muskrats that had been carried to the fox kits by their parents."

Green City Murder Case

By Wm. G. Bogart

Chapter 3
THE muffled beat of the dance band, coming through the hallway outside the dressing room, reached her ears. Somewhere a door opened and a girl's quick, light footsteps tapped hurriedly along the corridor and faded toward the front of the night club.
Jeannette glanced at the little clock in the folding brown leather frame on her dresser; ten-thirty—and she was on at eleven o'clock. She would sing only two numbers tonight; then she'd leave. Never mind the late show. Somehow the club could manage. She must be ready to get away from here right after the eleven o'clock performance.
She was tall, slim-built. Smooth, strong shoulders showed above her slip. She moved around the room with impatient haste, picking up a pair of hose, panties, assorted handkerchiefs, and slipping them into an open suitcase that rested on a chair. Her eyes were sultry and dark and worried. Shaded with blue mascara, they looked more violet than blue.
There was a quick knock on the door.
She straightened, gaze swerving toward the door, her eyebrows flattening into pencil-thin straight lines.
She stood unmoving for ten seconds.
The knock was repeated.
"Who is it?" she asked. She seemed to be holding her breath.
"It's Irma, honey," the girl's voice called, a young voice, full of vitality.
Jeannette moved quickly across the small dressing room and unlocked the door. She turned the key in the lock after the slender redheaded girl had hurried into the room. "He phoned again, didn't he?" she demanded.
The girl who had entered the room had paused, turning, looking questioningly at the tall brunette. She frowned and said, "Jeannette, you're worried about something." She glanced around the dressing room, saw the open suitcase.
"What are you packing for?" "What's wrong?"
"Irma," the tall girl repeated, "he phoned, didn't he?"
The girl named Irma was small, shapely, with the slim hips of a boy and the straight square shoulders of a dancer. She wore a brief flared skirt that covered barely four inches of her thighs, and a "bra" adorned with many tiny sequins that caught and reflected the light. It was a dancer's skimpy costume.
Irma jerked her head. "He wants you to call him right back. It's the second time—"
"He's been trying to reach me all day," said Jeannette.
The redheaded dancer watched her an instant, then jumped up quickly and held her arm. "Please, honey, tell me. You act almost as though you're... frightened about something." Then she said, wide-eyed, "You are frightened, Jeannette!"
Jeannette sat down suddenly on the narrow couch. She stared intently at the slim girl. "What did he say besides that? Did he say anything?" Her eyes were tight blue.
Irma, watching the taller girl's face, sat down on the couch, took her friend's hand. "You're afraid of him, aren't you?"
For a moment Jeannette was immobile. Then she said, her voice hardly more than a whisper, "Two nights ago I began to wonder about him. Last night, I was certain—"
Irma shook her head, still confused. "You've gone out with him so many times. He's met you here, taken you different places—"
"Have you ever noticed," the dark-haired singer said, "that he never comes in here, inside the club? Only that first night, the time I met him." Her fingers were trembling. "He always sends someone in for me. It occurred to me just the other night, he doesn't want to... to be seen!"
"Why? What do you suppose—?"
"For instance," the singer went on swiftly, "how often have you ever seen him, Irma?"
The younger girl stared, startled. "I've never seen him! I'd never thought of that. He's just a name—George Bent—and I've talked to him only on the phone when he left messages for you."
"George Bent?" Jeannette said quietly. She stood up, turned, looked down at the redheaded girl. "George Bent!" She laughed harshly, but her eyes did not change expression. "That's not his name. I'm convinced of that now!"
Irma kept watching her. "Who is he?"
"I don't know."
"But—" Jeannette asked, "Baby, have you ever been afraid of a man? Really afraid?"
Irma thought that over for a moment. Then she admitted, "Well, there was a boy in high school once—"
The tall singer's lips curved in a grim smile. "You don't understand the kind of fear I mean," she said quickly. "I can't go into details now. There was a guy once... I was twenty. Later—something happened. He got in a jam. I missed a rap by the skin of my teeth."
"A rap?" the girl Irma questioned.
"Trison."
Irma gasped.
"I've watched my step ever since," Jeannette explained. "I've never met the right guy... But this fellow George Bent, I thought he was all right. Then, the other night—"
"Yes?"
The tall brunette shook her head, a curious expression in her dark eyes. "There's something... he's mixed up in something... She gave an uneasy movement of her shoulders. Her skin was pale beneath the make-up. "I just want to get away from him, that's all!"

Red Fox Rough On Muskrat Supply

George W. Keppler, Meadville game protector, offers two slants on what has happened to muskrats in northwestern Pennsylvania. He says:
"This is good muskrat country, with its many marshes and beaver dams. The closed season last winter has been a great help to the little fur bearers. They seem to be everywhere."
"I have had some reports of red foxes working on rats. A Mr. Allen, who works at the Western Game Farm and also traps, reports that he took 61 red foxes and 1 gray during the month of June, all within sight of the game farm. At one of the predator's dens he counted over 50 tails of muskrats that had been carried to the fox kits by their parents."

Queen City Murder Case
By Wm. G. Bogart
Chapter 3
THE muffled beat of the dance band, coming through the hallway outside the dressing room, reached her ears. Somewhere a door opened and a girl's quick, light footsteps tap-tapped hurriedly along the corridor and faded toward the front of the night club.
Jeannette glanced at the little clock in the folding brown leather frame on her dresser; ten-thirty—and she was on at eleven o'clock. She would sing only two numbers tonight; then she'd leave. Never mind the late show. Somehow the club could manage. She must be ready to get away from here right after the eleven o'clock performance.
She was tall, slim-built. Smooth, strong shoulders showed above her slip. She moved around the room with impatient haste, picking up a pair of hose, panties, assorted handkerchiefs, and slipping them into an open suitcase that rested on a chair. Her eyes were sultry and dark and worried. Shaded with blue mascara, they looked more violet than blue.
There was a quick knock on the door.
She straightened, gaze swinging toward the door, her eyebrows flattening into pencil-thin straight lines.
She stood unmoving for ten seconds.
The knock was repeated.
"Who is it?" she asked. She seemed to be holding her breath.
"It's Irma, honey," the girl's voice called, a young voice, full of vitality.
Jeannette moved quickly across the small dressing room and unlocked the door. She turned the key in the lock after the slender redheaded girl had hurried into the room. "He phoned again, didn't he?" she demanded.
The girl who had entered the room had paused, turning, looking questioningly at the tall brunette. She frowned and said, "Jeannette, you're worried about something." She glanced around the dressing room, saw the open suitcase. "What are you packing for? What's wrong?"
"Irma," the tall girl repeated, "he phoned, didn't he?"
The girl named Irma was small, shapely, with the slim hips of a boy and the straight square shoulders of a dancer. She wore a brief flared skirt that covered barely four inches of her thighs, and a "bra" adorned with many tiny sequins that caught and reflected the light. It was a dancer's skimpy costume.
Irma jerked her head. "He wants you to call him right back. It's the second time."
"He's been trying to reach me all day," said Jeannette.
The redheaded dancer watched her an instant, then jumped up quickly and held her arm. "Please, honey, tell me. You act almost as though you're... frightened about something." Then she said, wide-eyed, "You are frightened, Jeannette!"
Jeannette sat down suddenly on the narrow couch. She stared intently at the slim girl. "What did he say besides that? Did he say anything?" Her eyes were tight blue.
"Just that he wanted you to call him back."
"Where was he?"
"He didn't tell me. He didn't say anything."
Irma, watching the taller girl's face, sat down on the couch, took her friend's hand. "You're afraid of him, aren't you?"
For a moment Jeannette was immobile. Then she said, her voice hardly more than a whisper, "Two nights ago I began to wonder about him. Last night, I was certain."
Irma shook her head, still confused. "You've gone out with him so many times. He's met you here, taken you different places."
"Have you ever noticed," the dark-haired singer said, "that he never comes in here, inside the club? Only the first night, the time I met him? Her fingers were trembling. 'He always sends someone in for me. It occurred to me just the other night, he doesn't want to... to be seen!'"
"Why? What do you suppose?"
"For instance," the singer went on swiftly, "how often have you ever seen him?"
The younger girl stared, startled. "I've never seen him! I'd never thought of that. He's just a name—George Bent—and I've talked to him only on the phone when he left messages for you."
"George Bent?" Jeannette said quietly. She stood up, turned, looked down at the redheaded girl. "George Bent!" She laughed harshly, but her eyes did not change expression. "That's not his name. I'm convinced of that now!"
"The 'Who is he?' Irma kept watching her. 'Who is he?'"
"I don't know."
Jeannette asked, "Baby, have you ever been afraid of a man? Really afraid?"
Irma thought that over for a moment. Then she admitted, "Well, there was a boy in high school once."
The tall singer's lips curved in a grim smile. "You don't understand the kind of fear I mean," she said quickly. "I can't go in details now. There was a guy once. I was twenty. Later—something happened. He got in a jam. I missed a rap by the skin of my teeth."
"A rap?" the girl Irma questioned.
"Prison."
Irma gasped.
"I've watched my step ever since," Jeannette explained. "I've never met the right guy... But this fellow George Bent, I thought he was all right. Then, the other night..."
The tall brunette shook her head, a curious expression in her dark eyes. "There's something... he's mixed up in something... She gave an uneasy movement of her shoulders. Her skin was pale beneath the make-up. "I just want to get away from him, that's all!"

EXPERT ADVICE ON A BIDDING PROBLEM By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
"What is wrong with the way we bid this hand?" asks a San Antonio reader. "Should North bid only two diamonds instead of jumping to three diamonds? Should South pass at four spades instead of bidding the slam? Where did we go wrong?"

"South had a fairly good play for the hand, in any case. He won the first trick with the ace of hearts, drew three rounds of trumps, and then began on the diamonds. All would have been well if trumps had broken 3-2 or if

Radio-Listening Committee Makes Selection Study

Considering one of the phases of education by radio, teachers on the radio-listening committee for Warren borough schools met recently to select the weekly Wednesday morning programs. In order to give information of public organizations to the school children, other students of the grade schools on the same language level will interview persons in public agencies, such as the fire, police, conservation, and other departments, on their program. In addition to this innovation, the broadcasts consist of a varied selection of fairy tales, famous stories from literature, safety programs, book reviews, and programs for music appreciation. On the listening committee are Howard Andersen, director of vocal music in the elementary schools, chairman; Miss Lois Byham, fifth grade at East street; Miss Alice Fehlman, third grade at Home street; Mrs. Esther Smith, second grade at South street; Miss Marie Weissenfluh, home economics at the high school; and Leroy Schneck from WNAE.

Plans for N. E. P. H. Week Are Discussed

Plans for a successful National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week were discussed by the Warren Committee yesterday afternoon in the conference room of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service.

Present were Joseph Benson, Carl Jones, Ray Weber, Louis Vizra, Willis Lundahl, Andrew Donick, and Francis J. Buchanan. Mr. Benson, chairman of the committee, expressed the wish that employers in this vicinity would make a survey of their organization to determine if handicapped persons could be utilized in full or part-time jobs. He further pointed out that comprehensive surveys have proven that the handicapped worker is a reliable and productive worker, in many cases equal to or surpassing the non-handicapped employee.

Final plans will be completed for NEPH Week at the next meeting of the committee on October 2, 1951. NEPH Week is from October 7, 1951, through October 13, 1951.
